"For surely I know the plans I have for you, says the Lord, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope." Jeremiah 29:11

Grace and peace to you from God our Father and from our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

It is with a heavy and prayerful heart I write this final newsletter article as the pastor of our shared ministry. My last Sunday in this shared position will be Sunday, February 15th at our normal worship times. As I look back on these past 5 ½ years together I have many wonderful memories. I thank God for my time ministering amongst you.

As I leave, I will honor all boundaries. The Presbytery of Minnesota Valleys and the NWMN Synod have had a good deal of experience in this business of "saying good-bye" involving pastoral leadership. Guidelines have been developed that provide clear boundaries. These guidelines will help each of us bring honor to all that we have been to each other as well as all we have achieved together, and will bring a healthy closure to our shared ministry. Fundamental to these guidelines is the simple reminder that when a pastor leaves a congregation, it marks the end of the pastoral relationship. It does not mark the end of love and care for each other, but of necessity, the end of our pastoral relationship.

Toward this end, after February 15th, this pastoral relationship will come to an end. The exception would be if OS-TML calls me to be their pastor moving forward. That being said, I have developed many life-long friendships in both congregations. Know that our friendships do not have to end, but the pastoral relationship has to end. I will always welcome conversations about your personal lives or about your families and I will always welcome visits from dear friends! For the sake of the success of your next pastoral leadership, it would be inappropriate for me to continue as a theological guide, as an officiant for weddings or funerals, or as your pastoral presence in times of crisis such as hospitalization.

All pastoral calls are temporary. Change is never an easy thing, but change also leads to new opportunities. God gives us a wonderful example of this in Jeremiah. The Israelites are in exile against their will and their nation, homes, and places of worship have all been destroyed. They are forced to live in foreign lands. It is a hopeless situation, but yet God gives them this ray of hope, "For surely I know the plans for you, says the Lord, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope." These words are for us today, as I don't know what the future will hold for me. You may even be wondering what the future is for your congregation?

While I can't answer these questions, I am confident of one thing, that God will lead us into a future he already has for us. God calls us not to rely on our own strength and wisdom, but God instead calls us to trust him. God walks with us through the good times when we might think we know what will happen, but more importantly God walks with us when we don't know what will happen next or even when we don't even know what to pray for. Let us trust God and follow wherever God leads. May the peace of Christ be with you, may the love of God surround you, and may the Spirit guide you to the future filled with hope God has for all of us.

In Christ,

Rev. Dr. Paul Snyder

Opening a can of worms

In William Shakespeare's comedy As You Like It, one of the characters succinctly describes the stages of life from being an infant to becoming an aged adult. The speech begins: "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players; They have their exits and their entrances; And one man in his time plays many parts," Shakespeare then goes on in iambic pentameter to humorously describe life from birth to death. Behind the humor is truth.

There are many who bristle at the idea that as they are going through life they are merely "Playing a part." I have heard these people say, "I'm not playing, I'm living my life." They are of course correct. We are living but we are not living in a vacuum. We live surrounded by other humans and need to be aware of them and to react with/to them. What they/we say and do has a direct influence on our life and on theirs. We're sharing the stage/life together.

I recently played a game I call worm with the confirmation students. It seems silly and fun (lots of giggles from the confirmation students) but there are lessons for life to be learned in this game. The game begins with everyone who is participating standing in a tight circle. Each person reaches their hands into the circle and grabs two other hands. They aren't allowed to grab both hands of any individual and they aren't allowed to grab the hands of the person next to them. What results is a worm twisted and wrapped around itself. The challenge is to turn this mess/mass of arms into a circle. The participants need to open this can of worms. They do this by communicating and working together. There are times when one student will need to step over the arms of some, while simultaneously climbing under the arms of others. Through it all, communicating, working together they become better. There are times when the knot cannot be untangled but most of the time the participants find themselves successfully in a circle.

William Shakespeare told us that that we are players on a stage called life. He called his script As You Like It. In December I became an infant when I entered into a covenant with the shared ministry. In effect, I entered into a game of worm with First Presbyterian of Ashby and Our Saviors Ten Mile Lake of Dalton. I knew nothing of the Shared Ministry. Other than funerals I had never even attended a Presbyterian Sunday service. I took a place on stage, reached my hands into the circle and grabbed on. Thankfully and significantly, each of the congregations grabbed onto my hands. The ELCA and the Presbyterian Church also reached in and grabbed our hands. Most importantly God our Father, Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit grabbed our hands. We stepped over and under, around and through guided by faith, sure and certain Hope. Together we spent two months communicating and building a circle untangling the worm. I am blessed that you welcomed me into your hearts. Thank You for making me feel at home in your congregations. May God Bless you!

What's Cooking February 2026

Chocolate Lover's Cheese Pie

- 3 (8 oz) packages of Cream cheese – softened
- $\frac{3}{4}$  cup sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla extract
- 2 Tbls whipping cream
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups mini semi-sweet chocolate chips – divided
- 1 extra serving size graham cracker crust

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Beat cream cheese and sugar in a large bowl until well blended. Add eggs and vanilla. Beat well. Stir in  $1\frac{2}{3}$  cups of mini chocolate chips. Pour into crust. Bake for 10 minutes. Without opening the door, reduce the oven temperature to 250 degrees. Continue baking for 30 minutes or until just set. Cool completely. Cover and refrigerate until thoroughly chilled. Place remaining  $\frac{1}{3}$  cup of chips and whipping cream in the microwave and heat on high for 20 to 30 seconds or until chips are melted and the mixture is smooth when stirred. Cool slightly, spread over the top of the cheese pie. Refrigerate 15 minutes or until the topping is set.

Notes:

- This is a perfect recipe for Valentine's Day
- This is from the Richland Lutheran Church rural Walcott ND cookbook. They host a yearly lutefisk dinner on the last Friday of October.
- Because my wife is a chocaholic, I have made this for her birthday – and several other times when it looks like she needs chocolate.
- I have made this with a regular size chocolate cookie crust but I prefer a large size regular graham cracker crust.
- You may make your own crust or purchase a ready-made one.
- Everything except the crust is gluten free.
- It is rich so one only needs a small slice even though you want a large one.
